

The Environmental Design Archives delivers digital images to patrons in three primary formats. Please select the format for the digital images you want to be delivered by checking the box(s) and signing below. (Remember the Archives does not offer printing services, only delivers digital image files).

This document must be read before selecting an image format to ensure we provide the best possible service to researchers. Your signature on this form indicates that you understand and agree to these image specifications and conditions.

1. Reference images are intended for informational purposes and should be viewed on a computer screen. We deliver reference images to fit 11in by 17in or smaller, 150 dpi, PDF files.
- Best for historians, students, and homeowners.
  - Suitable for printing on home printers, but the reduction in size from large documents will reduce detail and contrast. Many archival documents are faint to begin with and will not reproduce well on home printers and/or copy paper.
  - Only delivered with the understanding that commercial use or distribution is not allowed.

I have read the image specifications and understand that I will receive an image(s) 11in by 17in or smaller, 150 dpi, PDF files.

- Best for authors and historians.

3. Reproduction images are intended to be printed at "life size" matching the archival document. We deliver reproduction images as scaled to the original document, at 300 dpi.
- Best for architects or designers, exhibition printing, and users needing scale reproductions of documents.
  - Need to be printed by a commercial printer on a large format printer; they are not suitable for printing on home or office printers.
  - Only delivered upon receipt of the EDA's use agreement.
  - The Environmental Design Archives makes no guarantees as to the accuracy of the size and scale of reproduced archival documents. While every attempt is made to size our photographic reproductions accurately, the age and condition of archival documents as well as the inability for the archives to control the editing of image files once they leave our hands prevents us from making any guarantees to their accuracy.

I have read the image specifications and understand that I will receive an image(s) scaled to the original document, at 300 dpi.
